ARTIST STATEMENT

Lin Fei Fei is a professional artist from Shenyang, China. After completing her Master's degree in neo-expressionism oil painting from Luxun Academy of Fine Arts, she moved to Sacramento, California where she now lives and works. Fei has experience working and painting in over a dozen countries and has participated in exhibitions in Europe, Asia, and the United States. Her art has been collected internationally by art galleries, museums, enthusiasts and collectors. In 2016, she was chosen as one of the ten "Contemporary Chinese Artists of the Future" by the Wang Shi Kuo Art Foundation in Beijing, China. The themes of Fei's art revolve around freedom and the mixture between emotions and the real world. Many of her pieces combine abstract techniques and realism to explore the energy of life and the varying atmospheres that people live in.

Recently, much of Fei's work has centered around the female body and her inner spirit. Her specific brand of art ranges from hidden sexuality to dark humor. All the while her pieces have a consistent connection with the spirituality and emotions of humanity. The use of true colors such as black, grey, white, and red have given her recent pieces a rough and almost violent feel that accurately brings out the emotion she is searching for in her work. She is trying to address social struggles of oppressed people.
